DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 23, 27 and 29-39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Harmon (3,907,149). Harmon discloses the limitations of the claims including a tank (figs. 1-8) comprising the limitations depicted below:

Wherein the insert is made of an insert material having a hardness greater than the internal coating, the internal coating is polyethylene, the covering is fiberglass and the fiberglass contains a matrix of resin (col. 4, lines 18-53), structure suitable for holding the tank (41).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3781

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 26 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Harmon as described in par. 2 above in view of Newhouse et al. (5,429,845). Harmon as described in par. 2 above discloses the limitations of the claims substantially excluding what Newhouse et al. teach, an annular indentation (42) penetrated by a portion of an adjacent cover/liner (46) in order securely fasten the two member to one another. Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to modify Harmon as described in par. 2 above with an annular indentation penetrated by at least one piece of the covering, as taught by Newhouse et al, in order to facilitate design choice and enhance the connection between the insert and cover by providing a secure connection.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 6/28/2010 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant contends:

6. The references do not have an insert having a collar which projects radially beyond the annular wall of the insert, whereby a portion of the outer covering holds the collar with a neck of the coating, and wherein the insert has gripping elements suitable for making a mechanical connection with the coating, the gripping elements comprising annular projections extending radially from said annular wall. The references do not have an insert with gripping elements suitable for making notches for connection with said coating, said gripping elements comprising annular projections extending radially from said annular wall. Also, the references do not have a positive interlocking as recited in claim 26.

7. Examiner disagrees. All of the abovementioned limitations are depicted by Harmon in the image above, see par. 3. Regarding claim 26, Newhouse teaches the interlocking fit as claimed, see par. 5 above. Moreover, 37 CFR 1.111(b) states, "A general allegation that the claims define a patentable invention without specifically pointing out how the language of the claims patentably distinguishes them from the references does not comply with the requirements of this section." Applicant has failed to specifically point out how the language of the claims patentably distinguishes them from the references.

Conclusion

8. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

9. A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

10. Applicant is duly reminded that a complete response must satisfy the requirements of 37 C.F. R. 1.111, including: "The reply must present arguments pointing out the specific distinctions believed to render the claims, including any newly presented claims, patentable over any applied references. A general allegation that the claims "define a patentable invention" without specifically pointing out how the language of the claims patentably distinguishes them from the references does not comply with the requirements of this section. Moreover, "The prompt development of a clear Issue requires that the replies of the applicant meet the objections to and rejections of the claims." Applicant should also specifically point out the support for any amendments made to the disclosure. See MPEP 2163.06 and MPEP 714.02. The "disclosure" includes the claims, the specification and the drawings.
